COMMITTEE ON EUGENICS.

Appointed by U. S. National Research Council.

The United States National Research Council has appointed a committee on eugenics, under the division of biology and agriculture, consisting of the following members: L. F. Barker, A. G. Bell, E. A. Hooton, Daniel W. Rue, Stewart Paton, Raymond Pearl, R. M. Yerkes, H. S. Jennings and C. B. Davern, chairman.

The committee has decided to hold the second international eugenics congress in New York city on September 22-28, inclusive.

Dr. Alexander Graham is the honorary president, Dr. Henry F. Osborn president, Madison Grant treasurer, and Mrs. Sybil Gatto, secretary of the Eugenic Education Society, in view of her activity in organizing the first eugenics congress, has been nominated secretary of the second eugenics congress.

The national consultative eugenics bodies in the various countries will be informed of the action of the eugenics committee of the National Research Council and invited to send representatives. A general invitation will be sent to universities in the several American countries and in the countries of Europe.

EIGHT SEEK PH. D. DEGREE.

G. W. U. Students to Defend Theses Tomorrow and Saturday.

At the spring doctorate disputation of the School of Graduate Studies, tomorrow and Saturday, eight candidates for the degree of Ph. D. at George Washington University will defend their theses. The sessions will be held at Lister Hall, and the public is invited.

The candidates who will defend their theses tomorrow and the subjects they have chosen are Dudley Ward Fay, "A Psycho-analytic Study of Some Psychoses Associated With Frank Endocrine Disorders"; John Abelson Garber, "The School Janitor"; Ewart William Hobbs, "Two Conceptions of Individuality: An Examination Into the Theories of Josiah Royce and William James"; Alanson David Morehouse, "Rainfall and Run-off and the Hydrology of Drainage Ditches"; Benjamin Schwartz, "Hematoxins from Parasitic Worms"; William Edwin Safford, "A Revision of the Genus Datura With Notes on the History and Narcotic Properties of the Species"; and Elton Galusha Salisbury, "Health Supervision in the Public Schools of the United States."

OVERTURN IN CONGRESS, GOMPERS DEMANDS

Executive Department and Courts Also Are Criticized by Labor Leader.

An indictment against Congress and the executive department for "incompetence on the cost of living issue" and a call for the "overturn" of the present Congress are the high lights in an article by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor in the current issue of the American Federationist, official organ of the federation.

"There must be an overturn in Congress," declares Mr. Gompers. "Enemies must be defeated, friends must be selected."

Among the measures for relief of the present situation which Mr. Gompers writes are the following: "Immediate effective action to prevent continued increases in the cost of living."

"An end to the kind of legislation typified by the Eech-Cummings railroad law and the Kansas court of industrial relations law. There must be an end of legislative repression, restriction and coercion. Not only must there be an end to the enactment of legislation of this character, but there must be a repeal of legislation already enacted."

Immediate and effective consideration to the proposal of the American labor movement that control of credit capital be taken from private financiers and placed in the hands of a public trust, to be administered upon principles of voluntary and co-operative character. This will strike a vital blow toward eliminating the abuses of profiteering and monopoly.

"The Attorney General," Mr. Gompers writes, "has found it possible to direct corner gaffers and small haberdashers for offenses which are of no moment at all in comparison to the whole situation. He has found it possible to advise the people to eat the poorer cuts of meat. He has found it possible to do a number of ineffective things, but seems to have found it beyond his capacity to do effective things."

Neither do the courts escape the indictment Mr. Gompers draws for Congress and the executive departments. The courts, he says, "bring their assistance to those who have so ably been plundering the people," citing the Supreme Court decision which held stock dividends not taxable as income.

The value of the offer is fully recognized by the Chinese, who train them to fish, and a well trained otter will bring several hundred dollars.

CORCORAN ART GALLERY FIFTY YEARS OLD TODAY

Act of Congress Incorporating Establishment Passed May 24, 1870.

Today is the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Corcoran Gallery of Art. May 24, 1870, was the date of the act of Congress incorporating the institution.

The building at Pennsylvania avenue and 17th street northwest, in which the late W. W. Corcoran intended to house the collection of which his private works of art formed the nucleus, was begun before the civil war. The government took it over and used it a number of years. It was not properly altered, repaired and available for the installation of its contents, therefore, until 1889.

Chartered Year Later.

Mr. Corcoran called a meeting on May 15 of that year at his residence of the following men, whom he asked to serve as trustees, and who accepted: J. M. Carlisle, Dr. James C. Hall, George W. Riggs, Anthony Hyde, James G. Berrett, James C. Kennedy, Henry D. Cooke, James C. McGuire, all of Washington, and W. T. Walters of Baltimore. The gallery was chartered and began its official existence a little more than a year later.

Moved Into New Home in 1897.

The institution moved into its present commodious, well arranged and beautiful home in 1897. The collection it houses has grown commensurately until the combination of old and contents is deservedly one of the best known in the United States and a fitting attribute of the National Capital. The present board consists of Charles C. Glover, president; C. Powell Minning, director; William Corcoran, Eustis William A. Clark, Henry White, George E. Hamilton, James Parmelee and Rudolph Kauffmann.

We're Offering First Mortgage Notes for Investment

Of course, it is Washington property on which these loans are made. But more than that—it's discriminatingly accepted property. That means we have passed judgment on the value of the property supporting these notes—so they are entirely safe as an investment for your surplus funds.

You can buy these notes—and forget about them. The interest will reach you the instant it is due.

McCombs Believes Cox Democrats' Best Choice

NEW YORK, May 24.—Nomination of Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio as the candidate whom the democratic party would have the best chance to elect was advocated by William F. McCombs, former chairman of the democratic national committee, in a statement issued here.

Mr. McCombs declared Gov. Cox could carry Ohio and said the electoral vote of that state was vital for democratic success.

Domestic problems, such as the deflation of currency, taxation and the railroad situation, and not the league of nations, should be the main issues of the campaign, said Mr. McCombs, adding that Gov. Cox had demonstrated his qualification to handle them. Mr. McCombs, who was largely responsible for the nomination of President Wilson in 1912, said the nomination of William G. McAdoo, son-in-law of the President, would impose upon the democratic party the handicap of the "crown prince" idea.
